INTRODUCING NEMO GROUP

Nemo Lighting, Reggiani, and ILTI Luce: a comprehensive lighting world

Milan, Spring 2024. The city further cements its status as a global design hub with the launch of Nemo Group, a combination of three of the world's most prestigious lighting companies: Nemo Lighting, Reggiani, and ILTI Luce.

In recent years, these companies within the Nemo Group have thrived under a dynamic management approach that greatly values internal resources while maintaining a distinctive product and communication identity.

Owned by Federico Palazzari, based in Milan and embodying the essence of Made in Italy excellence, Nemo Group pursues relentless innovation and design excellence. With operations extending across over 60 countries, three manufacturing units, and branches in France, the United States, and the Middle East, the Group employs over 220 individuals and boasts a consolidated turnover exceeding 60 million.

The group's mission revolves around leveraging Nemo's design excellence combined with ILTI Luce and Reggiani's technical and lighting solutions. This synergy aims to elevate the most sophisticated projects across the hospitality, retail, and museum sectors.

Under the leadership of Federico Palazzari and along with innovating managers like Andrea Spallino (CEO of ILTI luce), Pietro Gennaro (CEO of Nemo USA), and Benedetto Li Volsi (Group Design Manager), Nemo Group aspires for continuous organic growth and strategic acquisitions. This strategy spans the entirety of the lighting domain, marking a journey of expansion and innovation.

Nemo Group stands out for its commitment to fostering talent. Beyond securing a leadership position in the lighting industry, it strives to push the boundaries through a dedication to professional development. The Growing Future Talents (GFT) program encapsulates the Group's philosophy that investing in the advancement of high-level managers is the future of design.

Within the Nemo Group, each company operates autonomously within its specific market niche, from product development to financial management, while strategic, investment, and HR directives come from the Executive Committee.

NEMO Group

Nemo Lighting merges tradition with dynamism, from classic aesthetics to contemporary design, to create decorative solutions that reflect the Group's commitment to converging traditions with modern sensibilities.

Reggiani, on the other hand, emerges as a leader in professional technical and architectural lighting, showcasing the Group's capacity for delivering efficient, state-of-the-art lighting systems for ambitious projects.

Meanwhile, the strategic revitalization of ILTI Luce aims to refresh and modernize a brand historically known for its technical lighting and outdoor solutions. This move not only broadens the Nemo Group's product portfolio but also enhances its ability to meet a wide array of market needs, from aesthetic to functional, and for both indoor and outdoor settings.

The Nemo Group, through this strategic amalgamation of partner companies, exemplifies a dynamic response to diverse lighting requirements, driven by a respect for tradition, a commitment to innovation, and a pursuit of excellence.
